

BRIEFINGS.
—Prayer meeting night.
—What shall be done with the tramps?
—The Knights of Pythias meet to-night to arrange for the big blow-out Saturday next.
—Mrs. Rev. W. P. Stowe has arrived safely at home after an extended visit to the East.
—Mr. J. Creighton, of the dry-goods firm of Messrs. J. & D. Creighton, left today for New York on business.
—The Sheriff has been busy driving through the mud for several days serving jury summonses and other papers.
—The jail last night sheltered 47 lodgers, seven of whom were released this morning under promise that they would go beyond the lines, and cease troubling this city.
—The entertainment will be given in All Souls church instead of the parlors, to be followed by the usual dance in the parlors. Admission to the church 10 cents, dance 50 cents.
—Captain Ryan, of the gang who arrived in the city last Saturday, and whose right name seems to be Fitzgerald, has been sentenced to thirty days work on the street, and is today busy with the shovel.
—Z. Custer has been held in $1,500 bail to appear before the Circuit Court to answer to the charge of defrauding Z. Curtis out of $400, and other property, giving him patent rights in exchange, which Curtis claims are worthless.
—John Hollman had more whisky at last, last night, than he ought to have tried to carry at one time. He was accordingly run in, and to-day will commence on a 20 days sentence, which was imposed some time ago, but never enforced.
—The case of Allen vs. Lyon, in which the clerkship of Walworth county was the bone of contention, and in which Attorneys Norcross and Bennett, of this city, have been engaged, has just been decided in favor of Allen, according to information received last night.
—A young fellow named Hennessy, who works in the shoe factory, was knocked down in a scuffle at the door of the Opera house last night, just as the theatre was over, and the crowd coming out. He says he does not know the name of his assailant, whom it is claimed was drunk at the time.
—The funeral service of Mrs. George Watts occurred yesterday. Mr. Watts desires through the columns of the Gazette to express his appreciation of the many acts of kindness and words of sympathy of his friends, who have rallied about him in this time of bereavement, and to thank them for the same.
—One thoughtful manager of a traveling troupe inquired to-day what night the churches held their prayer-meetings. He didn't want to conflict with church services. That man ought to keep out of the way of Barnum, or he will be gobbled and set up in a side-show, as the only living specimen of his species.
—Dan Whalen, who has been in jail three months for larceny, and whose time expired yesterday, made use of this newly acquired liberty by getting ingloriously drunk, and was to-day sent back for thirty days more, or words to that effect, the penalty being five days and a $5 fine, which Dan, being unable to pay, will have to work out.
—Mr. S. H. Rhys, a sweet tenor singer of culture, assisted by Mr. J. C. Alden, Jr., a skillful pianist, purpose giving a musical and literary entertainment some evening next week, embracing a lecture on the songs and song-writers of Scotland, interspersed with songs and piano solos. The press speaks very highly of the entertainment, and it will doubtless be worthy of a liberal patronage.
—Joe Cook, who has been locked up for drunkenness, thought himself altogether too good to go out on the streets to work. He would shovel in the alleys and by-ways but not out on the main streets where he would be seen and known of all men. A broad and water diet has brought him to time though, and to-day he shouldered his shovel like a little man, and calmly submitted to the powers that be.
—The Court Street social will be held to-morrow night at S. D. Conant's, on North High street. An artist of distinguished ability will be present, and admirable photographs of those present will be taken by an entirely new method. Miss Eva Farlin, a graduate of Appleton University, will be present, and give a recitation. Songs and readings are also in the programme.
—One of the prisoners en route for the gravel pit to-day concluded that he wanted to go a different way than that which Fred Putnam, the overseer, directed. Fred ordered him to go on with the rest, and as he refused, promptly collared him, and made him understand that he meant business. The fellow begged for mercy, and gladly accepted the situation and went on with his comrades peacefully. Fred don't propose to be fooled with.
—Jo Ward, the crippled tramp, who cut the Marshall's head by a blow from his cane, has been turned loose by promising to leave the city. It was thought that the expense would be too great to warrant holding him for trial. It is no wonder that tramps flock to Janesville as long as the authorities, through a false sense of economy, turn criminals loose to cut up their devilries in some other town, and to finally get back to this city again.
—There was a little trouble in the street gang yesterday. They worked down toward the brewery on Main street, and thought it a convenient place to take a drink. Their request was met with a prompt refusal by Fred Putnam, the overseer, and it was in vain that they pleaded precedent as an excuse. When they found that they could not get the beer, they grumbled, swore, and threatened, and it took some little time to quiet them down, and place due balm on their wounded feelings.

—Prof. Haire's present and former students to the number of about 100 had a pleasant social reunion at the school rooms last Tuesday evening. A quartet consisting of Messrs. Will Webster, Clark Bros., and Arthur Conant, sang, Miss Peterson sang a solo, a charade entitled "No Rose Without a Thorn" was played, and tableaux and other interesting features were on the programme, at the conclusion of which a supper was set. The occasion was a pleasant one, and all participating had a happy evening.

FIGHT AT THE JAIL.
About noon to-day the report rapidly spread about town that there was an insurrection and a general fight in the jail, and a large crowd hastened thither, the most of whom arrived there too late to witness any of the disturbance. It appears that Clark and Sullivan and one other tramp who were let out this morning on promise of leaving the city at once, instead of doing so, filled themselves with bad whisky, and then taking a bottle with them went to the jail, where they were discovered by the officers just as they were passing the drinks up to the windows on the outside. The Sheriff and Deputy Marsh tried to effect an arrest, but the tramps showed fight, and a lively tussle ensued. A prisoner named Brady, who is allowed certain liberties of the yard, took a hand in the row and aided the officers. Two of the three tramps were finally knocked down, and dragged into cells. The other one escaped.

THE LATCH STRING OUT.
There was a very large and very happy commingling of friends at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Clark, corner of Locust and Holmes street last evening, it being an early tea-party. A bounteous and tempting supply of the good things of this world was set before the guests, and after the appetites had been more than satisfied, music, games, social chit-chat, and all the other entertaining features which could be furnished in such an elegant residence and by such hospitable hands, were afforded the company. The occasion was truly one of the most enjoyable of the season. Mr. Clark and family were happily successful in awaking a homelike feeling among their guests, and while there was an elegance displayed in the arrangements for the comfort of the guests, it was robbed of all that stiff and chilled formality which makes the hours pass so drearily. The evening passed most happily to all who participated.

MORE TRAMP TROUBLE.
The tramps are increasing in numbers and cheekiness. Last Tuesday evening they showed up some of their devilry on the train to Monroe. Among the passengers was Mr. W. R. Fisher, the groceryman. He had just purchased a new silk tie, and was sitting in the ladies car, when just before the train started out of the Janesville depot, two of the tramp family opened the car door, made a hasty dive for the new tie, snatched it off from Fisher's head and jumped off the train with it. Fisher followed, drawing his revolver as he ran, and when only about fifteen feet from the fellows fired at them. One of them stumbled as though wounded, but rallied and ran faster than before, bearing the tie with him. Fisher had time to fire again, and then got on the train which was just steaming off, and proceeded on his journey, hatless. After the train had got about a mile out, two men were noticed standing on the platform of the express car. The messenger unlocked the door and told them to go through to a rear car. They refused, and grappled the messenger. The conductor and brakeman came to the rescue, and the latter pulling a revolver, told them to "git." As soon as the train was slackened up they did "git," materially assisted by a pair of No. 10's. Vigorously fulfilled. The balance of the trip was peaceful.

BEFORE THE FOOTLIGHTS.
Edwin Clifford's dramatic company appeared at the Opera house last evening in Ingomar, a play translated from the German. It is a beautiful and chaste drama, and threaded with a sufficiency of the thrilling and romantic, to retain closely the interest of any audience. Miss Amelia Watts appeared as Parthenia, the Greek maiden, and fully sustained her popularity and reputation. She entered enthusiastically into her conception of the character, and showed herself an artist indeed, of high merit. Edwin Clifford, who has been so long and so favorably known here as well as elsewhere, made an excellent Ingomar, and with these two leading artists, and a good support, the play was finely rendered. The entertainments furnished by this company are remarkably free from all moral unhealthfulness, and purity is never sacrificed for the sake of sending around the laugh.

Next Saturday evening at the Opera house Lottie will appear in her wonderful impersonation of Topsy in Uncle Tom's Cabin. The play has been presented by her in all the principal cities of the country, and yet people do not seem to tire of it. The Fort Wayne Sentinel says of her: "She is all that has been claimed for her. Her acting is truly wonderful, and she is a thorough artist. She is an actress in the best sense of the word. Having studied to that degree that all self-consciousness appears to be lost in her thorough identification with the part she plays. The house was filled with a brilliant audience, whose flattering ovation to Miss Lottie was well deserved by that young lady for her admirable rendition of that somewhat peculiar character of 'Topsy.'"

FUNERAL OF MR. S. FULLER.
A number of the members of Rock River Encampment of Odd Fellows, of this city, went to Milton, yesterday afternoon to attend the funeral of Mr. Schubel Fuller, who belonged to that lodge. Elder Dunn preached the funeral sermon, and Elder Bailey made a few eulogistic remarks. The procession was then formed, and marched to the cemetery, where the last tribute was offered in accordance with the regular ritual of the order. Elder Lawrence conducted the same. Over fifty Odd Fellows were present besides a large number of other sympathizing friends.

BEST BOOK FOR EVERYBODY.
The new illustrated edition of Webster's Dictionary, containing three thousand engravings, is the best book for everybody that the press has produced in the present century, and should be regarded as indispensable to the well regulated home, reading room, library and place of business.—Golden Era.

CALL YOUR CAUCUSES.
The time is rapidly drawing near when the ballots are to be dropped into the box for the election of city officers, and it is ripe time for the calling of the caucuses. The Democrats have already made their announcements, and it is high time that the Republicans do likewise. The city committee appointed at the last convention, and whose duty it is to make the needed arrangements are as follows:
1st Ward—E. G. Field.
2d Ward—R. P. Young.
3d Ward—F. F. Stevens.
4th Ward—A. H. Sheldon.
5th Ward—G. A. Libbey.
At large—H. S. Woodruff.

LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE.
Lippincott's Magazine for April is full of light and readable matter. Robert A. McLeod writes graphically of the Italian Lakes—Grada, Como, Maggiore, etc.—and Olive Logan gives a sparkling description of scenery and manners in Norway. Both papers are profusely illustrated, and present together a vivid notice of the contrast between northern and southern Europe. "The Home of the Jaguar," by Dr. Felix L. Oswald, brings us to one of the most striking regions on our own continent, the pathless swamps and thickets of Yucatan, where the king of American beasts has his lair; the author is well acquainted with the ground, and gives many anecdotes illustrative of the strength and ferocity of the Jaguar. "Recollections of Edward L. Davenport," the tragedian, is by Henry P. Goddard, and "Home Harmonies," giving hints to amateur quartet players and domestic performers generally, by S. Austen Pearce, Doctor of Music and Professor of the Art at Columbia College.

Dr. S. Weir Mitchell begins a story (in three parts) of Quaker life in old Philadelphia, entitled "Hephzibah Guinness," and there are several other stories in the number, all well written and entertaining. The poetry is by Paul H. Hayne, Sidney Lanier, and Philip Bourke Marston, and the "Gossip" is unusually full, comprising papers on Russian Proverbs, Portable Furniture, Düsseldorf Street Life, and other topics.

THE WEATHER.
The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 40 degrees above, and at two o'clock at 56 degrees above. Cloudy. Rain fell last night and during the forenoon. One year ago to-day at corresponding hour, the thermometer stood at 21 degrees and 29 degrees above.

The indications to-day are for the upper lake region and upper Missouri valley, warmer, partly cloudy weather and rain areas, variable winds mostly from east to south, and generally lower pressure.

THE ROUND TABLE.
The meeting last evening was well attended, and the exercises were both interesting and profitable. "Literary Dictation" was the subject of the study.

Prof. Haire opened the discussion, and spoke of the properties of Style. This subject presents some features of the literary art which have not before engaged the attention of the Club. To appreciate the excellencies and beauties of literature, it is needful to study the process of the mind in its creative activities, for the style is the poet's mind at the moment of inspiration, and like a cast gives permanent form to moulding thought. Style embodies the peculiar qualities of the artist.

It is the particular manner in which thought flows out in the case of the individual mind and upon a particular subject. It is the free, unconscious expression of the individuality of the thinker and of the specialty of the subject. It changes as the individual changes. It is affected by the experiences of life as well as by the influences of culture. Style of expression is closely related to style of thought. Clearness of style is the effect of the clearness of the thought; force, is due to the grasp of the subject, to the apprehension of great truths—to the power of the ideas; while beauty naturally springs from the moulding into unity of the manifold and multitudinous.

Rev. T. P. Sawie read a paper on "The Philosophy of Style." Style is the dress of thought. Language, the instrument of expression is imperfect, and therefore cannot be a perfect style. The end aimed at determines the qualities of a good style in each form of writing. Intelligence is a first requisite. The meaning of the words must be plain—the meaning of the sentence clear. This depends upon the arrangement of the words and of the thoughts. Simple ideas must come first preparing the mind for the more complex.

Mr. Dunwiddie's theme was "Epithets." The use of language is to convey thought. One writer obscures and weakens his thought by verbiage, another with a word flashes it before you. Epithets epitomize the thought, vividly portray it, picture it at one stroke, put years of passion into a word. Illustrations were given from Shakespeare and Milton, showing the beauty and force of epithets in the handling of a master artist and other instances from inferior writers of ill chosen epithets. Phrases sometimes take the character of epithets and wield great influence, as "Taxation without representation," "Rail-splitter" aided President Lincoln more than argument, and "Little Giant" won for Douglas a wide notoriety. Nicknames carry often a singular force. They are intangible and allow no chance for reply. They stick often times with great persistency.

Prof. Van Cleave closed the evening's study with a well digested discussion of "Imagery." The mind has the power of producing within itself analogies of all physical sensations impressions. Any such sensory impression mentally conceived is an image. Imagery is the union of the abstract and concrete and has two roots, resemblance and vivification. From resemblance we have comparison, allegory, simile and metaphor. Dante abounds in metaphor, Homer and Spencer in simile. He gave various fine illustrations with analysis from Keats (the kneeling Madelon) where there is simile with no allegoric meaning beneath; from Shelley—the description of the chariot—Prometheus Act III—when there is a symbolic picture of the Hours; from Shelley's "Cloud" "shepherded by the wind." Illustrations were given from Dante, Mrs. Browning and Byron of imagery of external objects compared with one another. Burns in Tam O'Shanter gives a cluster of images—image on image. In this Shelley abounds. So Byron, Don Juan Canto II, 92,—"an instance of ultra fancy. He quoted also from Burns' "Mary in Heaven," "A Man's a Man," T. B. Read's "Clothing Scene," Percy's Ballad, "Weep no More." The subject of the next study will be "Literary Epochs," April 3d.

COOKSVILLE.
—The fields are already putting on a hue of green, and vegetation is about six weeks earlier than usual, and some are prophesying that all the fruit will yet be killed by frost.
—Friday, March the 13th, honey bees were bringing in pollen or bee bread, just as though summer was here. This was a sight never before seen here in the month of March.
—Almost every farmer in this vicinity will sow some wheat this year.
—About the usual quantity of tobacco will be put in again this season.
—For a number of years the Republicans of this town have met in caucus at the usual place of holding town meetings on the Saturday afternoon preceding the annual town meeting, and unless the town committee, whoever they may be, otherwise direct, they will meet there this year at one o'clock p. m., on the 30th inst.
—The money has nearly all been collected to buy the material for the sidewalk.

An effort is being made to raise funds enough to fence the public common or park. It is located in the pleasantest part of the village and contains five acres of land, a portion covered with a natural grove, which is gradually being killed out by sheer carelessness in hitching horses, and otherwise damaging the trees which amount almost to vandalism. Now with a little effort this can be perpetuated, and children and strangers who travel the streets now, and in the future will be thankful for the effort.

—B. S. Hoxie is increasing the capacity of his factory by putting in another vat and improving it for the summer's work.

—A notice in the post office reads, "The patrons of the Cooksville cheese factory are requested to meet at the factory, Thursday, March 28th at 2 o'clock p. m., to elect officers and transact any business which may properly come before the meeting."

—Mr. Hoxie found, a few days since, an unfinished arrow, a spear head, convex on one side, slightly concave on the other, which measures five inches long and two and one-fourth wide. This is one of the largest of this kind of Indian relics ever found in this vicinity.

—Mr. H. D. Morgan, of the Florence Herald, Kansas, made a very short visit to his parents and friends in Cooksville, last week. He reports business brisk in that new city and emigrants arriving daily, some to settle there, and others to push on further West.

—Allen Howard, of Kansas, has been spending a few weeks in Janesville, in the interest of a railroad company for excursions into that portion of Kansas. He made his old home in Cooksville a short visit, and returned West again this week.

Excitulating.
The fragrance of Dr. Price's Floral Riches, the sweet odor of his Pet Rose, and his charming perfume Aïsta Bouquet, produces an exhilarating effect upon the mind. They are as fresh and sweet as the fields in hay-making time. None have used them but to admire.

CITY NOTICES.
—P. J. Flanagan gives a Free Lunch every day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night, at his new Sample Rooms, 32 East Milwaukee street. No tables, chairs or places where rowdies and loafers can find a resting place. Everything clean and orderly.

LOCAL MATTERS.
—An Astonishing Fact.
A large proportion of the American people are to-day dying from the effects of Dyspepsia or disordered liver. The result of these diseases upon the masses of intelligent and valuable people is most alarming, making life actually a burden instead of a pleasant existence of enjoyment and usefulness as it ought to be. There is no good reason for this, if you will only throw aside prejudice and skepticism, take the advice of druggists and your friends, and try one bottle of Green's August Flower. Your speedy relief is certain. Millions of bottles of this medicine have been given away to try its virtues, with satisfactory results in every case. You can buy a sample bottle for 10 cents to try. Three doses will relieve the worst case. Positively sold by all druggists on the western continent.

Beyond the Reach of Human Skill.
Is the power to restore the hair to bald heads when the bulbs at the roots are destroyed by age or disease; but there are countless many persons becoming bald, whose hair by careful attention might be restored to its original luxuriance and beauty. Parker's Hair Balm is an elegant preparation, designed to meet the public want for a harmless hair dressing and restorative. It acts like magic, commencing at the very roots, removes Dandruff, and all humors from the scalp, and never fails to restore gray or faded hair to its natural color, and the soft, rich and glossy appearance of youth. By its occasional use falling of the hair is immediately checked, and a luxuriant and beautiful growth of young hair induced. The exquisite perfume and the purity of its composition are highly appreciated, and as it is not a dye and does not stain the skin or clothing, it is a growing favorite of the toilet table everywhere. Buy a bottle from your druggist, A. J. Roberts, Janesville, Wis., and test its merits. jansewawocwilliams
